

THE GAZETTE.

SATURDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 15.

A CHILD NEARLY BOILED.—Five-year-old Frank Keogh, of Philadelphia, fell into a boiler of hot water yesterday and was nearly boiled to death. The mother is a wash-woman, and had left a tin of boiling water on the floor while she went to look after other household duties. Frank is trying to get around the boiler, fell into it, and got so wedged in the tin that he could not extricate himself. After the mother had gone to his relief and removed him she found that the poor child had been almost cooked. Dr. Hendricks was at once summoned, but his efforts to save the child's life will, it is feared, prove fruitless.
